CLASS COMMITTEE.

THOMAS FRANKLIN BROWNELL, Class Secretary.
CHARLES HARRISON TWEED.
WALTER HENRY DORR.

The address of the Class Secretary is No. 26 Broad Street, New York City.

Classmates : —

It again becomes my pleasure to present to you a Class Report. It is made up, as were the previous ones, of brief biographical accounts of each of you, together with such statistics and matters of Class history as I deemed would be of interest to you or of value for reference. This Report has been prepared almost entirely from information received from you in answer to my circular issued 6 April, 1875. To those who have answered I return my thanks. They will find, in each instance, a full statement of the facts which they have thought proper for publication. For the correctness of the accounts of those who have not replied, I cannot hold myself responsible. Notices of them have been made up from such information as I could obtain from reports of other classmates or outside sources. For valuable assistance in reference to these notices, I am especially indebted to Chadwick, Clark, and W. A. French.

Since the publication of the third Report, four years ago, three of our number have died, — Gardner, T. F. Goddard, and Rodgers.

At the request of the Class, the Faculty have given the degree of Bachelor of Arts, as of the Class of 1865, to Chase and Dodge, and their names will be found among those of the graduated members.

I was glad to be enabled to give in the last Report, after a careful examination of the marriage statistics, a somewhat rose-colored statement of our average connubial prospects. I fear that this has given to the unmarried members an undue feeling of security. Certainly there has been a manifest inactivity in respect to this matter since the last Report, and the future looks ominous indeed. At an average age of over thirty-two years, only fifty-five out of one hundred and thirteen are married. I trust that as now your attention has been called to this subject, you will strive to keep up our matrimonial averages. The statistics concerning children look much more promising. During the last five years the number of children has been quintupled. An easy calculation shows that at that rate the number of children at the time of our next decennial Report will be no less than 1,400.

I need not remind you again that I shall be happy at all times to send to you any information I may have concerning your classmates, or on subjects of Class interest. Copies of the previous Reports and of the Class Oration and Poem will be sent to you on request.

Trusting that this Report will be interesting to you,

I remain, very sincerely, yours,

T. Frank. Brownell,

Class Secretary.

HARVARD COLLEGE.

CLASS OF 1865.

GRADUATED MEMBERS.

FRANCIS JOHN ALISON. After graduation he spent the autumn of 1865 in Philadelphia. During January and February, 1866, he travelled through some of the Southwestern States, intending to engage in cotton planting. He gave up the intention, however, and returned to Philadelphia in the spring of 1866. In May, 1866, he went to California by way of Panama, and remained ten months, returning to Philadelphia in February, 1867. In the spring of 1868 he became clerk in the Union National Bank of Philadelphia, and remained there until January, 1869. In the summer of 1869 he became a clerk in the wool-commission house of Gregg Brothers in Philadelphia, which position he held until 4 May, 1872. He sailed 27 July, 1872, for Europe, and returned January, 1873. In May, 1873, he commenced reading law in the office of R. C. McMurtrie, Esq., in Philadelphia, where he is still studying. He expects to be admitted to the bar June, 1875.

Address: No. 218 South 15th Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

FRANK EUSTACE ANDERSON. Since the last Report he has remained in Cambridge as Tutor and Assistant Professor of Greek, in Harvard College. He was appointed Assistant Professor, 2 June, 1873. He took the degree of A. M., 26 June, 1872.

Address: No. 7 Matthews Hall, Cambridge, Mass.

LUDLOW APJONES. Not heard from. Since the last Report, he left Cincinnati, and went to the island of Borneo, intending to take charge of a large district, and engage in exporting. The project was however abandoned, and he returned to Cincinnati. When I last saw him, he was purposing to go to Europe in the spring of 1875. He has given up the practice of law.

Address: No. 30 Pike's Opera House, Cincinnati, Ohio.

ROBERT HALE BANCROFT. He remained a partner in the firm of Dalton and Bancroft, insurance agents and brokers in Boston, until 1 March, 1872, when the firm was dissolved. He sailed for Europe, 22 October, 1872, where he remained until October, 1874.

Address: No. 247 Beacon Street, Boston, Mass.

GEORGE BLIGHT. Not heard from. After being admitted to the bar he began the practice of law in Philadelphia. He went to Europe, July, 1874, with the intention of staying only a few months. He was very ill in London in August, and, under the advice of his physician, spent the winter in the South of France, where, I am informed, he still remains.

Address: No. 729 Walnut Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

WILLIAM ELBRIDGE BOARDMAN. He has remained in Boston, engaged in the practice of medicine. He became, 7 November, 1871, an honorary member of the Port Royal Club of Boston; and, 15 November, 1872, a member of the Massachusetts Medical Benevolent Society. He was appointed, 30 January, 1870, Physician to the Central Office of the Boston Dispensary; 23 December, 1873, Physician to Department for Diseases of Women at the Boston City Hospital; and May, 1874, Medical Examiner for the United States Life Insurance Company of New York City. For several years he has been a member of the Boston Society of Natural History. He has translated and published "The Pathology of the Teeth, with especial Reference to their Anatomy and Physiology," by Professor Carl Wedl of the University of Vienna, pp. 800. He has also written two pamphlets, one "On the Use of Zinced or Galvanized Iron for the Storage and Conveyance of Drinking-Water," published in the Fifth Annual Report of the State Board of Health of Massachusetts, in 1874; and one on "The Value of Health to the State," published in the Sixth Annual Report of that Board, in 1875.

He has also contributed various medical reports and reviews to medical societies, and to the Boston Medical and Surgical Journal.

He was married at Boston, 5 June, 1873, to Mary Bangs Bryant, daughter of Harrison Clark and Susan Freeman (Bangs) Bryant, of Boston. A daughter, Cornelia Bangs Boardman, was born 31 August, 1874.

Address: No. 132 Chandler Street, Boston, Mass.

* CHARLES MALCOLM BOYD. He died at Ravenna, Ohio, 30 June, 1864. See Secretary's Report, No. 2.

JOHN QUINCY ADAMS BRACKETT. He remains in Boston in the practice of law. In December, 1872, he was elected a member of the Common Council of Boston, from Ward X., was re-elected in 1873 and 1874, and still holds that position. He was commissioned, June, 1874, Judge-Advocate on the staff of Colonel J. S. Burrell of the First Brigade Massachusetts Volunteer Militia, with the rank of captain. He is a member of the Commonwealth, the Central, and the Athenæum Clubs of Boston. He was president of our Class Supper held 23 June, 1874.

Address: No. 226 Washington Street, Boston, Mass.

JOHN HENRY BRADFORD. Not heard from. He has continued his residence in New York City, holding the position of treasurer of the Grahamite Asphalt Pavement Company.

Address: No. 234 Broadway, New York City.

THOMAS FRANKLIN BROWNELL. Since the last

Report, he has continued the practice of law in New York City. He was elected member of the Bar Association of the City of New York, February, 1872 ; and president of the Fraternity Club, January, 1873, for one year. Since January, 1873, he has been treasurer of the Harvard Club of the City of New York. He was appointed, 22 April, 1873, Commissioner of Deeds for New York City, for two years, and reappointed 21 April, 1875.

Address : No. 26 Broad Street, New York City.

ALBERT CLARK BUZELL. He has continued the practice of law in Boston.

Address : No. 5 Pemberton Square, Boston, Mass.

JAMES READ CHADWICK. After sailing from America, 20 May, 1871, he passed over two years in Europe, studying medicine in Würzburg, Vienna, Breslau, Berlin, Heidelberg, Paris, London, Edinburgh, and Dublin. He devoted the greater part of his time to the study of obstetrics and diseases of women, to which branch of medicine his practice is now exclusively confined. During this period he published two papers in the Boston Medical and Surgical Journal : " Amputations at the Massachusetts General Hospital, " 1 May, 1871, pp. 22 ; and " Palpation in Obstetrics," August, 1872, pp. 14 ; and contributed letters on " Lostorfer's Corpuscles," " Würzburg," " Zürich and Female Medical Students," " Poisoning by Arsenical Wall-Paper," and other subjects.

While in London he was elected a Fellow of the Obstetrical Society of London.

He returned to Boston, 8 July, 1873, when he learned that he had been appointed, 23 June, 1873, Lecturer on the Diseases of Women, in the Harvard Medical School. To this position he was reappointed in the summer of 1874. 1 September, 1873, he began to practise medicine at No. 123 Boylston Street, in Boston. He also opened, 13 October, 1873, a " Free Dispensary for the Diseases of Women," at No. 241 Harrison Avenue, since removed to No. 18 Stamford Street, where it " still flourishes."

He was appointed, 17 February, 1874, Physician to the Department for Diseases of Women, out patients, at the Boston City Hospital. In April, 1874, he was elected secretary of the Suffolk District Medical Society, and during 1874 he became a member of the Obstetrical Society of Boston, Boston Society for Medical Observation, Social Science Association, and Thursday Evening Club.

He has published papers and letters in the Boston Medical and Surgical Journal on "Neugebauer's Specula," "Transfusion" (read at the Annual Meeting of the Massachusetts Medical Society in 1874), "Temperance in Massachusetts," "Report on Obstetrics and Diseases of Women," "Eau-de-Cologne," "Case of Immediate Transfusion," "Ovariotomy" (two cases), "Proceedings of Suffolk District Medical Society"; in the Obstetrical Journal of Great Britain, October, 1874, on "Female Catheter and Thermometer Case combined"; and in the American Journal of Obstetrics, New York, with W. A. Freund of Breslau, "Four Cases of Ecchinococes in the Female Pelvis." He has translated from the second German edition, "Winckel on Child-Bed," pp. 500, and the volume will be published in the summer of 1875.

A daughter, Norah Chadwick, was born in Vienna, 18 February, 1872; and a second daughter, Margaret Chadwick, in Boston, 5 September, 1873.

He was toast-master at our Class Dinner in 1874.

Address: Corner of Clarendon and Marlboro' Streets, Boston, Mass.

JOHN WESLEY CHURCHILL. Since the last Report he has resided at Andover, Mass., and continued Professor of Elocution at the Phillips and Abbott Academies in that place. He is also connected with the Boston University as a member of the Faculty of the School of Oratory. The increase of his duties at Andover has prevented him from continuing his work in Amherst College and Mount Holyoke Seminary, or accepting more than one fourth of the invitations received to give public readings. He has been elected an honorary member of the Nashua (N. H.) Historical Society. He delivered, 27 October, 1873, an address on the Ecclesiastical History of Nashua (formerly Dunstable) at the Bi-centennial Celebration of the settlement of that town, which address will be published by the Nashua Historical Society.

Address: Lock Box No. 14, Andover, Mass.

CHARLES WARREN CLIFFORD. He has remained at New Bedford, engaged in the practice of law, as member of the firm of Marston and Crapo. His wife died 28 April, 1872.

He left home 18 January, 1873, and travelled through the Southern States to New Orleans, visited Vicksburg, the Mammoth Cave, and St. Louis, and thence went overland to California and Oregon, where he remained about two months. He returned home 8 June, 1873. He sailed 27 June, 1874, from Boston for Europe, visited South Ireland, Scotland, and England, and after an extended journey upon the Continent, returned home, 8 October, 1874.

He was elected a member of the Union Club of Boston, in 1874. He was appointed Assistant Inspector of the Election of Overseers for Commencement day, 1874, and reappointed for Commencement day, 1875.

Address: Care of Marston and Crapo, New Bedford, Mass.

JOSEPH COOK. On graduation, in 1868, from the Andover Theological Seminary he delivered an oration on the value of "A Fourth Year of Study in the Courses of Theological Seminaries," which was published in the "Bibliotheca Sacra" for April, 1869, and afterwards printed separately by W. F. Draper of Andover. He studied theology a fourth year, as a resident licentiate, at Andover, under the direction of Professor Parks, speaking meanwhile from point to point in New England as a religious lecturer, but not seeking settlement. An address on "The Relations of the Temperance Reforms to the Future of Democracy in the United States," delivered by him in the Park Street Church in Boston, on a May anniversary in 1870, was published and widely circulated by the Massachusetts Temperance Society.

After speaking in revivals at Vergennes, Vt., Rockland, Mass., Middlebury, Vt., and Laconia, N. H., he was for a year acting pastor of the First Congregational Church at Lynn, Mass., and while in that city gave a series of discourses turning largely on the interest of workingmen and factory reform. Outlines of these addresses were published by W. H. Halliday and Company of Boston, in 1871, under the title of Music Hall Lectures.

He sailed from Boston for Europe, 12 September, 1871, and returned to New York, 2 November, 1873. During this absence from America of more than two years, he travelled first in Scotland, England, and France, and then gave a year to the German universities under special advice from Professor Tholuck, with whom he had the fullest personal intercourse. After learning the German language, chiefly during residences at Halle, Leipsic, and Dresden, he heard lectures at Berlin University from Dorner and Twesten, at Halle from Tholuck and Julius Müller, and at Heidelberg from Schenkel and Kuno Fischer. An article by him on "Strauss' Superficiality" was written in Germany, and published in the "Bibliotheca Sacra" for July, 1873. He passed a considerable period on the Rhine, and at Weimar, and in Switzerland. He was ninety-five days in Italy, fifteen in Egypt, forty-five in Palestine, and forty-five in Greece. He passed a night on the Acropolis, one on Mount Parnassus, and one on the plain of Troy, and returned to London by the way of Constantinople and the Danube. He delivered, 10 May, 1875, an address at the Centennial Celebration of the capture of Fort Ticonderoga.

Authorship and lecturing are his present occupation. His course of Religious Lectures consists of twelve upon "Evidences" and twelve upon "Doctrines," and "are intended to treat the more important and difficult topics of religious thought from the point of view of the freshest American, British, and German scholarship."

Since December, 1873, he has resided in Boston.

Address: No. 23 Pinckney Street, or Boston Athenæum Library, Boston, Mass.

HORATIO GREENOUGH CURTIS. For the past four years he has remained a partner in the firm of J. Gardner Curtis and Company, engaged in Boston in the business of importing East India goods.

In April, 1871, he went to London, visited Versailles, and returned home June, 1871. In September, 1871, he again went to Europe, and was married in Paris, 14 October, 1871, to Anna Neilson Winthrop, daughter of Benjamin Robert and Eliza Neilson Winthrop, of New York City.

In 1870, he joined the Somerset Club and the Apollo Club of Boston, — the latter a musical society.

Address: Care of J. Gardner Curtis and Company, No. 78 Devonshire Street, Boston, Mass.

ALBRO ELMORE CHASE. He received the degree of A. B., as of the Class of 1865, 24 June, 1874. He joined the Portland Lodge F. A. M., 13 May, 1868, and the Ligonia Lodge No. 5, Independent Order of Odd Fellows, in 1869. Leaving the last named, 7 November, 1871, he became one of the charter members of Beacon Lodge, No. 67. He also joined the Eastern Star Encampment, No. 2, I. O. O. F., April, 1870; and leaving it 7 January, 1873, became one of the charter members of the Portland Encampment, No. 19. From October, 1873, to March, 1875, he was editor and publisher of the "Maine Journal of Education." This publication was, March, 1875, sold to the "New England Journal of Education," and he assumed the State Editorship of the latter paper. A son, Edward Nichols Chase, was born 11 October, 1874.

Address: P. O. Box No. 737, Portland, Me.

WALTER DABNEY. Not heard from. He has continued the cotton brokerage business in Boston, at present as a partner in the firm of Dabney and Stackpole. He was married, in the autumn of 1874, to Harriet Larkin, daughter of Charles Larkin, of Boston.

Address: Care of Dabney and Stackpole, No. 25 Kilby Street, Boston, Mass.

GEORGE WALES DILLAWAY. He entered the office of Evarts, Southmayd, and Choate, December, 1868, and not in 1869, as stated in the last Report. 15 October, 1872, he, with his partner, formed a copartnership with Henry L. Burnett, Esq., under the name of Burnett, Andrews, and Dillaway. This partnership was dissolved May, 1873. He sailed, 28 May, 1873, for Europe, and returned 30 September, 1873. Since then he has been practising law in New York City. He received the degree of A. M., 26 June, 1872. In February, 1874, he became a member of the Union League Club of New York City. In 1873 he resigned his membership of the Harvard Club. He is one of the Directors of the Railway Advertising Company.

Address: No. 47 William Street, New York City.

LEWIS ALLEN DODGE. Not heard from. I learn that he has returned from the South and is now employed in the Boston Custom House.

Address: Custom House, Boston, Mass.

ORLANDO WITHERSPOON DOE. Not heard from. According to the information I have, he is practising medicine in Boston.

Address: No. 298 Shawmut Avenue, Boston, Mass.

WALTER HENRY DORR. I regret to record that in 1872 he became deranged, and that his physicians give no hope of his recovery. He is now in a private insane asylum in South Boston.

WILLIAM BULLARD DURANT. He is still practising law in Boston.

He received in 1869 the degree of LL. B. from Harvard University. He was elected, 7 April, 1875, a member of the New England Historic Genealogical Society.

Address: No. 52 Washington Street, Boston, Mass.

CHARLES JAMES ELLIS. I have only this information concerning him: that he is now practising law at Los Angeles, Cal., as a member of the firm of Godfrey and Ellis; that he is a member of the Harvard Club of San Francisco; and that he was married, 12 August, 1874, to Mary Thompson, daughter of Judge J. S. Thompson, of Illinois.

Address: Nos. 1 and 3 Downey Block, Los Angeles, Cal.

WILLIAM HENRY FISH. He remained for two years pastor of the Second Congregational Society (Unitarian) in Northampton, Mass. Then he went to England, remained one year in London, and now has charge of a Unitarian church in Kidderminster. He does not intend making England a permanent residence.

He was married, 12 June, 1872, to Helen A. Case, daughter of Everett and Eva W. Case, of Vernon, Oneida County, N. Y.

Address: Alpine Villa, George Street, Kidderminster, England.

GEORGE ALBERT FISHER. For the past four years he has been practising law in Boston. He formed a copartnership, 1 January, 1874, with George V. Leverett, Esq., under the firm name of Fisher and Leverett.

A son, Edgar Griffiths Fisher, was born 17 October, 1873.

Address: Care of Messrs. Fisher and Leverett, No. 47 State Street, Boston, Mass.

ISAAC VANDERPOEL FRENCH. He has remained in New York City, continuing the practice of law. He received the degree of A. M., 26 June, 1872. He is a member of the Young Men's Democratic Club of New York City. He gives very discouraging accounts of "classmates in his vicinity."

Address: No. 47 William Street, New York City.

WILLIAM ABRAMS FRENCH. He continues at Boston, a member of the firm of Abram French and Company.

As he has the management of the Chicago house of that firm, a considerable portion of his time has been spent in the West.

His daughter, Helen Olivia French, was born 10 July, 1871, and not at the date stated in the last Report. A son, William Chapman French, was born 23 November, 1873.

Address: Nos. 151 and 153, Milk Street, Boston, Mass.

GEORGE SEWARD FROST. He has continued the practice of law in Boston, most of the time and now as member of the firm of Frost and Otis. He has resided at Jamaica Plain. He was appointed, 1 August, 1872, Trial Justice at West Roxbury, and held that office till 1 January, 1874. He was elected, June, 1874, member of the school committee of Boston for two years.

A daughter, Mary Pepperell Frost, was born 18 September, 1871; a second daughter, Margaret Hamilton Frost, 21 November, 1873.

Address: Care of Frost and Otis, No. 13 Pemberton Square, Boston, Mass.

GEORGE AUGUSTUS GODDARD. In the autumn of 1872 he gave up the business of importing Calcutta goods, and entered the Harvard Law School. He received the degree of A. M., 26 June, 1872, and that of LL. B. in 1874. He has studied an extra year at the Law School, and intends next to practise law in Boston.

He has served two years and been elected for a third year as an inspector of elections in Ward VI., Boston, and is a member of the Commonwealth Club, a political organization in Boston.

Address: No. 1 Mount Vernon Place, Boston, Mass.

WILLIAM JASON GOLD. Not heard from. I am informed that he is rector of the Church of the Holy Cross in Dundas, Minn., and Professor of Biblical Exegesis in the Theological Seminary at Faribault, Minn.

Address: Dundas, Minn.

FRANCIS BUNKER GREENE. He has remained at New Bedford, engaged with Thomas M. Stetson, Esq., in the practice of law. He was for the year 1872 one of the Common Council of New Bedford from the Fifth Ward, which length of service he decides was "enough." From 14 May, 1873, to 2 June, 1874, he was a Special Justice of the Police Court of New Bedford. In 1871 he was one of the examiners of applicants for a West Point nomination in the First District of Massachusetts. He was appointed, 16 December, 1874, a special commissioner of the Court of Commissioners of the Alabama Claims.

Address: New Bedford, Mass.

ALFRED GREENOUGH. He continued his studies in London at the South Kensington and British Museums, and in the various architectural societies, until the end of the Communist insurrection in Paris. He then returned to Paris, and resumed work at the École des Beaux Arts in June, 1871, following its exercises in original design until the end of 1873, except during the first four months of 1872, which he passed at Naples, Rome, and Florence, in company with H. B. Williams of our Class. After passing the whole of 1874 and about half of 1875 in America, he purposes "to return to Europe soon after Commencement, 1875, to complete his artistic education in the usual way, by travel and sketching, and to study the scientific and business sides of his profession."

Address: Care of Charles Henry Parker, Esq., Suffolk Savings Bank, Boston, Mass.; or Care of Messrs. Baring Brothers and Company, London, England.

DAVID STODDARD GREENOUGH. He remained in the office of our classmate Wilder, in New York City, till the summer of 1874. He then removed to Boston, where he is engaged in business, residing at Jamaica Plain. He is a member of the Union League Club of New York City.

Address: Care of James Edmond and Company, No. 394 Federal Street, Boston, Mass.

JOHN GREENOUGH. He remained with Henry Clews and Company, of New York City, until May, 1872. He then went to London, where he has established himself in business. He is a member of the Junior Athenæum Club and of the London Rowing Club.

Address: No. 4 Gracechurch Street, London, E. C., England.

JAMES IRA HANSON. He was elected principal of the High School at Woburn, Mass., in September, 1871, which position he still holds. He is a member of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows. A daughter, Edith Abbie Hanson, was born 22 May, 1872; and a son, James Chester Hanson, 20 March, 1874.

Address: Woburn, Mass.

GEORGE ANTHONY HILL. The last Report should be corrected to read as follows: —

He continued a Tutor in Physics at Harvard College until September, 1871. During the last part of 1870 and until November, 1871, he was in Scotland on leave of absence, studying in the laboratory of Sir William Thomson, at Glasgow. He received the degree of A. M., 29 June, 1870; and was appointed, 10 August, 1871, Assistant Professor of Physics at Harvard College from 1 September, 1871, which position he still holds.

Address: Harvard College, Cambridge, Mass.

* WILLIAM CHANNING HENCK. After leaving the Class, he went, July, 1864, to Nicaragua and remained six months. Returning, February, 1865, he enlisted, 14 February, 1865, in the Second Regiment of the Massachusetts Volunteers, and joined his regiment in South Carolina. Soon after he took cold from exposure all day in a pouring rain, was admitted to the hospital at Beaufort, South Carolina, 25 March, 1865, sick from the measles; typhoid fever followed, and he died 2 April, 1865.

FRANK MERRICK HOLLISTER. In May, 1872, he washed his hands of the coal business and took a position on the editorial staff of the Buffalo Express. THOMAS EDMUND SYMMES. He gives the following interesting account of himself in answer to the Class circular: —

"During the winters of 1871–72, 1872–73, 1873–74, I taught public schools in Boone County, Ind. In the spring and summer of 1871 I taught a subscription school. For several months previous to the election of General Grant, in 1872, I edited The Lebanon Patriot. In the summer and fall of 1873 I had charge of a drug and grocery store at Pike's Crossing in the 'State of Boone.' During April, May, and June of 1874, I was accountant for Hammond and Vannice, proprietors of a planing-mill in Lebanon, Ind. In July, 1874, I returned to Massachusetts, by way of Detroit, Suspension Bridge near Niagara, and Albany, N. Y. Last fall I taught a school of forty-six scholars and eight weeks in length in this village, where I am now residing. I also taught the winter term. The committee, after speaking of my predecessor who had been dismissed, continue as follows: 'After a delay of one week, the school was again "started" under the charge of an efficient teacher, the result of whose faithful and unremitting labors is very apparent in both the internal and external appearance of the school.' I am now teaching my third term in this school.

"In the summer of 1871 I had bound my work entitled 'My Theology; or, Mystery Solved.' It is written on note-paper, and if printed would make a book of very nearly the size of Dr. Peabody's work entitled 'Christianity, the Religion of Nature,' the same sized type being used. In my work I have shown that the soul of man cannot be conscious when deprived of the Divine Spirit given at birth; that the Bible is harmonious with the view that lost souls are not immortal; that there is a class of conditionally predestinated persons, and possibly another class of unconditionally predestinated persons; that the pre-omniscience of God does not extend to the choosings of responsible beings; that the triune constitution of God is reasonable and apprehensible, and consistent with the teachings of Scripture, and that one of the objects of the seventh millennium of this earth is this: that those who die before they arrive at years of responsibility may be raised in company with the redeemed, and their fidelity to God tested under the instruction of the saved, that also they may have an opportunity to grow up to man's estate." He adds that an eminent clergyman says of his work, "It seems an admirably written book, full of sound and valuable thought, and adapted to diffuse light and knowledge."

Address: East Pepperell, Mass.

JOHN KERR TIFFANY. He remains in St. Louis, Mo., engaged in the practice of law. He published, December, 1874, a work entitled "The Philatelical Library, a Catalogue of Stamp Publications," pp. 112. A daughter, Caroline Barnard Tiffany, was born 23 August, 1871. His wife died 26 August, 1871.

LYMAN NICHOLS. He still resides in Boston.
Address: Lyman Nichols, Jr., No. 89 Boylston Street, Boston, Mass.

LORENZO FRANCESCO PAPANTI. Not heard from, and I have learned nothing concerning him.

WILLIAM PETERS. In the years 1868 and 1869 he was a clerk in the law office of Sigismund Kaufmann, Esq., 39 Nassau Street, New York City. He afterwards began to practise law, and had an office at No. 5 Dey Street. In the autumn of 1872, he went to Missouri, was admitted to the Bar of that State, and remained there for about a year. Then he returned to New York City, where I am informed he still is.

GEORGE NEWTON PROCTOR. He has continued at Fitchburg, Mass., as member of the firm of Garfield and Proctor, in the business of shipping coal.
Address: Fitchburg, Mass.

* HORACE CLAPP RODGERS. While in the army he was member of Company D, Thirty-Ninth Regiment Massachusetts Volunteers. He died at South Acton, Mass., 26 July, 1872.

GEORGE BRIGGS RUSSELL. Appointed Aide-de-Camp to Brevet Major-General C. C. Augur, U. S. A., in 1867, he served in Nebraska, Wyoming, and Utah until 1872, and since then as Inspector General of the Department at Texas. He is at present Captain of the Ninth Regiment of Infantry,

U. S. A., Aide-de-Camp and Inspector General of the Department of the Gulf. He was married, 29 April, 1873, at San Antonio, Texas, to Jeannie E. Augur, daughter of General C. C. Augur. A son was born 13 April, 1875.

Address: Headquarters of the Department of the Gulf, New Orleans, La.

GEORGE REED RUSSELL. For the past four years he has remained in business with the firm of John Gordon and Company, in Boston. He resides in Cambridgeport. He was married, 7 December, 1871, at Wakefield, Mass., to Emma A. Edmond, daughter of Francis and Mary A. Edmond, of Woburn, Mass. A daughter, Mary F. Russell, was born 3 July, 1873.

Address: Cellar No. 12, Faneuil Hall Square, Boston, Mass.

JOHN CODMAN SOLEY. He remained at the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis as Assistant Instructor in Ordnance and Gunnery, and in command of the Infantry Battalion, until July, 1873. He was then ordered to the European Fleet, and joining the Wabash at Corfu, Greece, in August, he was appointed Flag Lieutenant to Admiral Case, who was in command. He was present at Carthagena during the fights between the Republican troops and the Communists, and afterwards visited Barcelona and travelled through Western France. In the following winter he returned to the United States and served in the squadron at Key West, as Flag Lieutenant to Admiral Case, who was Commander-in-Chief of the United States forces assembled in anticipation of a war with Spain. He was transferred to the Franklin, returned to Europe May, 1874, and visited the principal ports in the Mediterranean. He was appointed, February, 1875, Flag Lieutenant to Admiral Worden, Commander-in-Chief in European waters, and is still serving in that position. He has written a chapter on "Built-up Guns," and another on "Naval Operations on Shore," both in "Cooke's Ordnance and Gunnery."

Address: Navy Department, Washington, D. C.; or, Care of B. F. Stevens, No. 4 Trafalgar Square, London, England.

FREDERIC WILLIAM SPARRELLE. He has remained in the United States Revenue Marine as First Lieutenant, being stationed at Wilmington, N. C., until June, 1873, and at Key West, Fla. from May, 1874, to the present time.

Address: Care of Revenue Marine Bureau, Treasury Department, Washington, D. C.

WILLIAM BRUNSWICK STICKNEY. Not heard from. When last reported, he was practising law in Portland, Me.

FREDERICK RUSSELL STURGIS. He has remained in New-York City engaged in the practice of medicine. His partnership with Dr. Bumstead was dissolved 1 May, 1874. Since December, 1869, he has been Assistant Surgeon at the Manhattan Eye and Ear Hospital, and is now Lecturer on Venereal Diseases in the Medical Department of the University of the city of New York. Since June, 1874, he has been one of the visiting surgeons to Charity Hospital on Blackwell's Island. He was also one of the surgeons to the New-York Dispensary, but has resigned that position.

He is a member of several medical societies and of the Lotos Club of New York, and a Mason. He has resigned from the Union League Club.

Address: No. 16 West Thirty-second Street, New-York City.

FREDERICK HENRY THOMPSON. He remained at Lancaster engaged in the practice of medicine until 28 May, 1874. During the last year of his residence there he was a member of the school committee and Public Library Committee.

He was appointed, April, 1874, Physician to the State Industrial School for Girls at Lancaster, which position he resigned on his removal from Lancaster. He removed to Fitchburg, Mass., 28 May, 1874, where he still remains engaged in his profession. He was commissioned, 8 September, 1874, Assistant Surgeon Tenth Regiment Infantry Massachusetts Volunteer Militia, on staff of Colonel James May, and was honorably discharged 23 February, 1875, at which date he was reappointed Assistant Surgeon on the staff of Colonel J. R. Drennan of Worcester. He is a member of the Mount Roulstone Lodge I. O. O. F. No. 98 at Fitchburg.

A daughter, Ada Howes Thompson, was born 7 May, 1871; a second daughter, Hattie Howes Thompson, 12 November, 1873; and a son, 13 April, 1875.

Address: Fitchburg, Mass.

CHARLES JACKSON TRAIN. He has remained in the United States Navy, and holds the rank of Lieutenant-Commander. He was one of the officers detailed to observe the transit of Venus, and sailed 9 June, 1874, in the United States Steamer Swatara, for the station on Kerguelen Island, in the South Pacific Ocean. He remained upon the island about four months, and is now on his way home on the Monongahela, by way of Rio Janeiro. He was married in 1870 to Grace Tomlinson. A daughter, Susan Train, was born 4 April, 1872; a second daughter, Grace Tomlinson Train, 21 May, 1874.

Address: Navy Department, Washington, D. C.

THOMAS WREN WARD. For the past four years he has been in New York City, a member of the firm of S. G. and G. C. Ward.

Address: No. 52 Wall Street, New York City.

JOSEPH MACY WILLARD. Not heard from. I am informed that he is still in the United States Army.

Address: Army Department, Washington, D. C.

JAMES HARVEY WITHINGTON. He remained with John G. Hodge and Company, wholesale stationers, until October, 1874, when he started for himself in the same business as member of the firm of Dutton and Withington.

With this firm he still continues. He is a member of the I. O. O. F., the Military Order of the Loyal Legion, the Harvard Club of the Pacific, which he originated, and in which he is one of the Board of Directors, and of the California Club, a social organization. For the past few years he has taken active part in political affairs; has been delegate to one Legislative Convention, one Congressional Convention, and one State Convention, and is a member of the Republican County Committee of San Francisco County, and president of a Ward Club. In 1872 he was chosen by the Republican State Convention a delegate at large from California to the National Convention, held at Philadelphia, 5 June, 1872. In that convention he served on the Committee on Resolutions.

He was appointed in August, 1874, by Governor Booth of California, Colonel on his staff, in which position he was retained by Governor Pacheco. He has also been detailed to act on the staff of Major-General Commanding the Militia of the State of California. His name should have been in the last Report in the list of members of the Institute of 1770 and the Cricket Club.

Address: Nos. 402 and 404 Sansom Street, San Francisco, Cal.

OUR CLASS BABY.

EDWARD EARLE ROGERS. Having now arrived at the age of nine years, he writes in answer to the Circular the following account of the exciting events of his life. "I can hardly remember all the things that I have done in the past four years. I have been out to Pomfret every summer. And I have caught a good many butterflies and moths. I had very nice times every summer that I can remember. Last year I had a funny green worm, and by and by he turned into a cocoon. In the winter I go to school. I am in the third room, and I can spell, draw, and sing. I am in division in arithmetic. I went to Rocky Point, and I saw a good many things that I liked very much. I have been to Newport too."

*Henck, William Channing. Left College, 1864. Private 2d Mass. Vols, 14 Feb., 1865: died at Beaufort, S. C., 2 April, 1865.

MEMORIAL HALL FUND.

The entire amount subscribed by the members of the Class to this fund was $ 1,093, all of which, except one subscription of $ 25, has been received and paid over to the General Finance Committee.

CLASS SUBSCRIPTION FUND.

This fund was set on foot in 1869 for the purpose of providing the University with a fund the income of which should be used at the discretion of the University government for any purpose except the erection and repairs of buildings. Subscriptions were payable within ten years. George A. Goddard, Esq., of our Class, who is one of the Executive Committee of the "Committee of Forty" intrusted with the collection of this fund, reports that our Class has subscribed towards this fund the sum of $8,400, of which the sum of $1,990 has been paid in. The following persons have subscribed: — Alison, Apjones, Bancroft, Blight, Chadwick, Churchill, Clifford, Dabney, Dorr, Fisher, W. A. French, G. A. Goddard, A. Greenough, John Greenough, Hollister, Holmes, Mifflin, Osgood, Poor, Putnam, Rogers, Rotch, H. B. Williams.

CLASS FUND.

Since the last Report additional subscriptions have been received from Jewett and the estate of G. W. Swett, and also in lieu of interest from several members of the Class.

The entire amount subscribed is $3,561. Payments to the amount of $170 have been prevented by death. Thirteen subscribers have not yet paid their subscriptions in full, and there is overdue from them, in the aggregate, the sum of $372.

The following is a brief statement of the condition of the Class Fund since the last Report: —
